

Wendy Blackwood has been teaching piano at the Athens Community Music School at Ohio University since 2006 and was appointed Director in May 2018. In addition to teaching piano, Wendy collaborates with Ohio University music majors, faculty, and Athens area ensembles. This allows her to perform with many area musicians and to play a variety of musical styles! Wendy is active in the Southeast Ohio Chapter of the Music Teachers National Association where she currently serves as secretary and is also a collaborative piano member of the National Association of Teachers of Singing. She was honored to be chosen as an collaborative pianist in the prestigious NATS Intern Program in June 2018. Wendy is also a member of the Piano Safari® team, assisting at conferences and events across the country. She earned her Bachelor of Science degree in Music Education and Master of Music degree in Piano Performance from Bob Jones University in Greenville, SC. Wendy, her husband Nathan, and two children, Lorelai and Isaac, enjoy hiking, listening to music, and reading together.

For music in our community,
